FOREWORD

It is well that Staten Island women should know each other better, that they should know what each other is doing, and how exceedingly well it is being done.

Staten Island is no longer a succession of little towns strung along our roads like beads on a string; it is becoming a solid homogeneous locality, and if our women are to do their share of the Island work they must work with a common purpose and a common ideal to make our home a better, cleaner and more beautiful place in which to bring up our children.

Therefore we must bestir ourselves politically, morally, charitably and religiously, and help to bear the burdens which belong to true citizenship.

Written for Our First Directory of Women

I firmly believe in club women and in women's clubs. Years of active work have strengthened my belief. Even if clubs have no special work they are still worth while because they take a woman away from the monotonous round of housewifely tasks and give her something new to think about. They take her out of herself. The social intercourse alone, would make them valuable. But where does one find the club without an object? They are helping the aged, the babies, the blind, the crippled; they are busy over community projects, the many necessary reforms that the men have not, it seems, found time to attend to. Women's clubs, to-day, are potent factors in humanitarian progress and in community betterment.

The rapid growth of Richmond Borough has brought with it an equally rapid increase in the number of women's organizations on the Island. We now have clubs of every size and kind, with many and varied reasons for being, but all, by virtue of their location on our beautiful sea-girt bit of land, have the interest of the Island at heart. Why not join forces? Could we not, united, better cope with its problems? Individual preferences could still be conserved but with a difference—the foundation would be united work for the community at large.

The great trouble with Staten Island, hitherto, has been its marked division into sections, a hide-bound localism. We have lacked the broader interest. We have not seemed to realize that a measure which benefits any part of the Island, benefits every part. Long Island has taken this to heart and to-day the Long Island Federation of Women's Clubs is fast becoming a power in the club world of Greater New York. If this is true of Long Island, why not of Staten Island? Such a union would give us greater prestige in the City, State and General Federations, and, what is of far greater importance, would make us a power to be reckoned with in the Island's affairs. Here in America we have tangible proofs of the value of unity. We also have indisputable evidence that the club women are playing an increasingly active part in keeping our country up to its highest efficiency. We can, therefore, have no uncertainty as to the real need of a federation on the Island now. We know how fine and progressive our Island Borough is—why not impress it upon others?

Architect

56 Bay Street
Staten Islander Building
St. George

When I conceived the idea of compiling and publishing the DIRECTORY I had no intention of doing more than cataloguing the Women's Organizations on the Island. However, the prompt response to my request for lists, the keen interest and hospitable reception taken in and accorded to the undertaking by those to whom my plans were addressed, encouraged me to go further and make the publication a little more than a directory.

As the Staten Island women learned of the enterprise, they began favoring me with sketches of other women whom they felt were deserving of special notice in the publication; and it was all so friendly and the desire to pay tribute to others so genuine, I could not resist their contributions and suggestions.

I feel deeply indebted to those women for the sketches they sent and for much other additional information which, as combined in the present form, results, I hope, in making the DIRECTORY of real value as a record; and I wish to add that upon looking over the list of nearly sixty organizations listed here, I feel very proud of the Staten Island women.

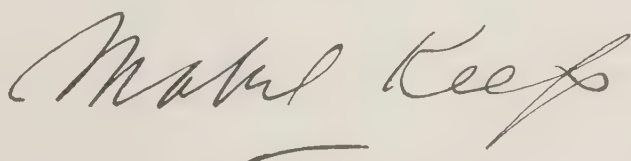

Emerson wrote: "There are a few good heads scattered around the world"; and I feel that Staten Island has its full quota among its women. I can but wonder what would become of welfare and uplift work if these women ceased working and giving. The economic value of such service cannot readily be computed.

I requested Mrs. William G. Willcox to honor this volume by providing its FOREWORD; for I felt that no other woman has ever meant more to the Island. This testimony comes to me from one end of the Island to the other and every face lights up at the mention of her name.

In entering upon the difficult work of compilation, I found myself confronted with the necessity of compressing the material in my hands if I hoped to confine the publication within a reasonable scope and render it practicably useful. Governed by these limitations, I have endeavored to make the almost 2,000 names included thoroughly representative of the best in Staten Island womanhood. I sincerely hope I have succeeded. If I have failed in this particular, all will kindly accept the assurance that it is not due to lack of trying.

In the effort to make this volume of real interest and value I am indebted for contributions and assistance, particularly to Mrs. William G. Willcox, Mrs. Ralph Van Wormer, Mrs. J. B. Handley-Greaves, Mrs. Will Hamilton Baker, Mrs. W. H. Pouch, and the Presidents and Secretaries of the Associations listed.

In closing, permit me to add that the advertisers who are represented herein have greatly assisted in making the effort a practicable one and that they deserve the patronage of our women.

SKETCHES

Among the foremost of Staten Island women is JOSEPHINE SHAW LOWELL, widow of Colonel Charles Lowell, who was killed in the Civil War. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Lowell threw herself into charitable work and was one of the supporters and originators of our modern methods of charity. She early turned her attention to the Jail at Richmond, and to the Poorhouse on the Manor Road. Great was the need of change and reform in both institutions at that time.

She organized the Committee of Able-bodied Paupers and practically eradicated such people from the Island. She also organized the Committee on Outdoor Relief. These organizations aid the work which the Social Service does nowadays. She was instrumental in starting the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, one of the first offshoots of the Gerry Societies. As Mrs. Lowell became more experienced and her work more appreciated, her field was enlarged. Governor Tilden appointed her on the State Charity Committee and her activities were gradually transferred to New York. But she must be remembered as the founder of organized charity on Staten Island.

DR. MARY WOLCOTT GREEN, who came to Staten Island in 1898, is one of the most distinguished women of the Island. She started the Staten Island Chapter of the D. A. R., and was an officer of the Staten Island Teachers' Club and a Director of the Staten Island Historical Society. She holds a degree of Doctor of Literature and has taught Latin, Greek and German and also holds a license to teach chemistry in high schools.

In 1910, a play, "The Women Who Did," was published, and in 1911, in collaboration with her brother, Harry C. Green, "The Pioneer Mothers of America," three volumes (G. P. Putnam's Sons) was published. Dr. Green was appointed a lecturer of the Board of Education and did that work for five years. At present she is residing in Florida.

MRS. JOHN F. MCGOWAN, 194 Richmond Terrace, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., the daughter of the well-known Fenian leader, Jeremiah O'Donovan-Rossa and his authoress wife, Mary Jane Irwin, and she was one of a family of nineteen children.

Eileen O'Donovan-Rossa has been recognized as an organizer and a leader since childhood. Her marriage to John F. McGowan of Port Jervis, N. Y., did not interfere with her public activities and as Eileen McGowan she is a recognized authority on family rehabilitation, social service and organization of women.

As far back as 1908 Mrs. McGowan was co-organizer of Court Genevieve No. 87, the first branch of the Catholic Daughters of America to be established on Staten Island. MISS EMILIA JOAN SCHNEIDER, 78 Harrison Street, Stapleton, dramatic artist and musician, has in her repertory some valuable talks on our American Indians. Miss Schneider has traveled with an Indian troupe and has met some of the most distinguished redmen and women of various tribes. She feels that every American should know more about the primal owner of our land. Not only should the Indian history be studied, but a closer knowledge of the Indian's spiritual quality will benefit us and help in the adjustment of the Indian's life on the reservations.

Miss Schneider is a member of the American Indian Association and is at present on the Penobscot Indian Island Reservation in Maine, to gather data for future lecture work.

Miss Schneider is the daughter of Colonel Casper Schneider, organizer and commander of the 103rd N. Y. Volunteer Regiment in the Civil War.

MISS E. ALICE AUSTEN, 2 Hylan Boulevard, Rosebank, organized the Staten Island Garden Club in 1914. Miss Austen started with 125 members, meeting at the members' homes where the best known lecturers spoke on garden subjects. This work still continues.

Miss Austen, with the authority from the New York Red Cross and the Staten Island Branch, organized four classes of 100 or more women to study to become ambulance drivers and mechanics to be ready to form a motor corps when we entered the war. The women had to pass a stiff examination which met with Dr. Smilie's approval. F. L. Rader of 1214 Richmond Road, Dongan Hills, was the instructor. Miss Austen was a Lieutenant in the Canteen and a Hostess at Hostess House at the Fox Hills Hospital through the entire war.

Himself," and various other books, Mrs. Hartt was on the stage for many years, the last four having been in classic drama with the Coburn Players. Later, she left the stage to pursue a deeper study of literature, and became an authority on the poetry of Robert Browning, whose poems she interpreted at universities and schools throughout the country, giving lectures also on Celtic literature with readings from the Celtic dramas. She is the author of "The Widening," a pageant, "Outwitting the Weasels and New Fangled Notions," published by E. P. Dutton & Company, and of "The Red Flower, a Play of Armenia," as well as many articles on art, drama and other subjects, contributed to magazines. Since coming to Staten Island she has been particularly interested in the work of the United Parents Association, under whose auspices she broadcast, for nearly two years, her own stories dealing with right and wrong methods of parents as applied to children. For two years she has been active in organizing parent groups around the schools of Staten Island for the purpose of studying the nature and needs of children.

SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

The Political Equality Club of Staten Island was founded by Elizabeth Burrell Curtis, the daughter of George William Curtis and Anna Shaw Curtis. It was the first organization on Staten Island to preach the equality of women and men. It met at the house of Mrs. Sydney Howard Gay and read books on political equality and on the status of women. The members wrote essays on women's rights and discussed her limitations in the eyes of the law and of society. Miss Curtis was Chairman and presided with the ability which she inherited from her very distinguished father. Mrs. Gay was vice-chairman, Miss Alice Hicks, treasurer, Mrs. William G. Willcox, secretary. This little association paved the way and educated the women for the greater movement which was inaugurated when the Woman's Suffrage Party was organized along political lines in 1912.

The first chairman of the Staten Island Woman's Suffrage Party was Miss Edith Whittmore, with Mrs. William G. Willcox as secretary. A vigorous campaign was set on foot to organize the women into Assembly and Election districts. Meetings were held and the equality of women at the polls was everywhere urged. The political clubs were addressed and the matter was laid before the members. Booths were held at the country fairs and literature and yellow buttons were given away. Speakers addressed the people. were held and the Staten Island women marched with their sisters from the other boroughs. There were seven women from Staten Island in the first parade and many hundreds in the final one.

Mrs. William G. Willcox succeeded Miss Whittmore as chairman, with Mrs. Charles E. Simonson as secretary, and Miss Amy B. Blake as treasurer. The work went on. The women ventured to hold meetings at night on street corners and to talk to the crowds who assembled on the need of women in the electorate; other women meanwhile distributing literature and enrolling the men and women as members of the Suffrage Party. Automobile parades, with yellow suffrage banners flying, drove over the Island, stopping at various points for speeches and to take signatures. Meetings were held everywhere. Staten Island burned pounds of colored fire on Waran Hill and illuminated a huge sign of "Votes for Women." One June day, at every marriage license bureau in Greater New York, the suffragists presented the bride-to-be with a bunch of roses and some literature. She was told that only a few short years before a married woman could not hold property and that fewer years before she had had no right to her children.

The suffrage amendment was defeated at the polls in New York State in 1915. The party redoubled its efforts in the two ensuing years. The membership of the Suffrage Party on Staten Island on September 1, 1917, was 10,513. Suffrage was granted to the women of New York State in 1917 by popular vote. The Suffrage Party ceased to be and out of its ashes rose the League of Women Voters.

WAR WORK

RICHMOND COUNTY CHAPTER, AMERICAN RED CROSS

When the United States entered the World War the American Red Cross hastened to organize Chapters all over the country. It was a wonderful outlet for the energies of those women who could not go abroad but were anxious to serve the Nation. In Rosebank there had been a tiny Chapter working in the Parish House of St. John's Church, making surgical dressings for the French wounded. Miss Rosalie Baldwin, Mrs. H. G. Wiman, Mrs. George Scofield, and Mrs. F. C. Townsend were the leaders in this Chapter and did fine work. Among others to do first Red Cross work at the Parish House were Mrs. R. L. Goldsborough, Miss J. Thompson, Mrs. Chas. F. Post, Mrs. Bryce Le Jeune, Mrs. R. Von Kokeritz, Mrs. A. L. Eglinton.

When the Richmond County Chapter was organized they magnanimously gave up their independence and entered into the larger work of the Chapter. Mrs. W. G. Willcox became Chairman. While this organization had men on its board, the chairman has always been a woman and the secretary also. The greater part of the work of the Chapter has been done by women. Mrs. Percy Shaw organized the canteen and it was always managed by women. All volunteers were women. For eighteen months three meals a day were served, rain or shine, snow or sleet, and hundreds of men from the men-of-war lying off Tompkinsville, have reason to remember the comfortable room, done up in blue and white, and white-aproned and white-capped capable women who served them. Thousands of dressings and bandages were made upstairs in the workroom. Bundles and bundles of garments for the refugees and for the hospitals abroad were cut and sewed and packed by the women. Often the box lids were nailed on by a woman's hand. The buying of goods, the lists of garments and dressings made and sent off were all done by women. Hundreds and hundreds of jars of jams and jellies contributed for the sick in military hospitals were all made and packed by women.

The Motor Corps of Richmond County Chapter was organized by a woman—Mrs. C. D. Simons. Many young women joined and did splendid service, transporting the wounded men brought over on transports, from the docks to Fox Hills Hospital; men in all stages of wounds and collapse and even some basket cases. They took the sick men out for airings and carried them to New York in the Red Cross ambulances when called upon.

During the epidemic of influenza in the winter of 1917 these young women transported the quick and the dead alike. Night and day they worked in shifts during that awful plague, and never did one of them fail or drop by the way. The 7 Branches and 26 Auxiliaries of the Richmond County Chapter were all managed by women in a spirit of absolute cooperation.

It was the women of the Chapter who gave the big Christmas celebrations to Fox Hills, when 3,000 patients were remembered each with an individual gift, and countless nurses, doctors, orderlies and attendants were supplied with some less personal presents. Neighboring Chapters contributed money for these celebrations and shared in the distribution of the presents. Miss Gladys King was chairman of this committee, and Mrs. Edward S. Flash was responsible for the wonderfully beautiful decorations of the Christmas trees.

It was the women of the Richmond County Chapter who gave a party on the grounds of Fort Wadsworth to the shipload of Russian refugee children, whom the American Red Cross had brought from Vladivostock on their way to Europe to join any relatives whom the revolution had spared. It was the women, too, who took clothes to them in place of the curious garments which had been fashioned on the voyage. For at least two years the American Red Cross had them in charge, dressing them from the stores of the Chapters.

When the French warship La Gloire rammed a coastwise steamer off Sandy Hook in the fog and came steaming back with the surviving passengers, among whom were two women and a little girl, it was to the doors of the headquarters of the Richmond County Chapter that the French doctor came for help. The clothing committee went out to the ship and ministered to the poor souls and sent them on their way dry and comfortable.

The Red Cross opened its doors to the refugees from the Morgan disaster. In one house or another, or at headquarters, the Chapter that night sheltered 135 women and children and a few men; gave them meals and in many cases, clothes, for they had run from their crumbling houses without stopping for anything.

The men on the board of directors backed the women in all these undertakings, but if there had been no women there would have been few undertakings.

The very active secretary of the Home Service Section, Mrs. S. McKee Smith, has served in this position from the beginning. She has handled all the cases which have come to the Richmond County Chapter, of the compensation and insurance for disabled Staten Island soldiers, the transfer of Staten Island men from one hospital to another, the supervision of the needy families of Staten Island soldiers. Her judgment and knowledge of the laws of the Army regulations bearing on these points have been of inestimable value to the sick men. This work is still kept up, for as long as a service man is alive, as surely will he need advice and help as to his affairs, financial and otherwise.

The peace-time work of the Chapter is kept up. In conjunction with the Visiting Nurse Association, 25 classes in home hygiene and care of the sick have been held in the last three years and over 250 women have received certificates from the national Red Cross.

This Chapter helps constantly with the care of the men at Marine Hospital.

The appeal for funds for the people in the floods of the Mississippi Valley was responded to at once. The Staten Island quota was over-subscribed by several hundred dollars. The subscriptions were made up of hundreds of small gifts, a really popular subscription, showing the confidence which the people have in this organization—"The Greatest Mother on Earth."

WAR WORK—POLICE WOMEN

In the late part of 1917 Deputy Police Commissioner Rodman Wanamaker requested Mrs. S. I. NEIDLINGER of Eltingville Beach to organize the Woman's Police Reserve on Staten Island. Two hundred and fifty women were divided into four units, each unit attached to the police precinct in which they worked. Each unit had a captain who appointed her minor officers, from corporal to lieutenant.

The organization was military, each member being obliged to take the oath of office and swear allegiance to the country. The women were obliged to attend classes at police headquarters, to learn the best way to give the best service to the country. The assignments were many and varied. The women raised money for their own ambulance, which was used as well as their own cars, to carry returned men from Quarantine to Fox Hills Hospital through all the time of returning from the war. Many soldiers' families were cared for—rent paid, and food and clothing supplied to the needy.

At the time of the Morgan explosion the police reserve women were the first to cross the bridge into the danger zone, although they were warned of the danger. School houses were turned into hospitals, churches into refuge camps, the playgrounds of the schools being turned into operating rooms, the police women serving as assistants to the doctors and nurses; others driving the ambulance or their private cars to carry old men, women and children to safety.

During the influenza epidemic it was a common sight to see a police reserve woman cleaning the home, cooking a meal or washing the baby, or doing anything else necessary for the stricken families.

The officers were: Major Sallie L. Neidlinger, Eltingville Beach; Captain Eunice Hohen, 60th Precinct, Tottenville; Captain Gertrude Smith, 65th Precinct, Port Richmond; Captain Louise Marinelle, 63rd Precinct, New Dorp; Captain Lida Sills, 66th Precinct, Stapleton.

The women were a loyal, patriotic body.

OF STAPLETON

Object: A Home in the truest sense of the word for aged wives, widows, mothers, sisters and daughters of seamen who have at some time sailed from the Port of New York.

The Home is in no way connected with or aided by Sailors Snug Harbor. During the years of its existence, the family has averaged about thirty members, cared for by a regular staff of five persons.

It is governed by a Board of not less than thirty managers who meet regularly at the Home on the last Thursday of the month.

The Staten Island Kindergarten Association is the local section of the New York Public School Kindergarten Association. It was founded in 1910. Its membership is composed of all the Kindergartners in the public schools of the Borough and any of those in private schools who desire to be associated with it. The work of the five Boroughs is carried on through a Central Advisory Council which is composed of chosen representatives and elected officers. In general the work is administrative, through the Association there is contact with the newest and best methods of education for young children. Delegates are sent to the meetings of the International Kindergarten Union, and to the National Education Association. The publicity and social needs are also met. The Annual Luncheon is an event of prominence to the Kindergartners and their friends, for important people are invited each time as guests, as a means of keeping the work before the public. There are two representatives in the Federation of Women's Clubs.

This is the only Kindergarten Association in the United States which runs its own Magazine. "The Round Robin" circulates as far as the Pacific Coast, into Canada, England and Japan, was organized and is run entirely by the Kindergarten teachers.

In the Richmond Section—the official designation; there have been six Presidents elected for two years of service—they are Miss Edith Gregory (now Mrs. George Egbert) Miss Musson, Miss Lamphear, Miss Crofts, Mrs. Spear and Miss Hall. Each has worked faithfully and well and given something of lasting value to the organization.

During the war period, several of the number served in France. A unit went over with the Director, Miss Fanniebell Curtis, to work with the children in the devastated area. This was glorious work, bringing back confidence and a smile to the tiny victims who were forced to live underground like rats in their holes.

As a Peace Memorial, a splendid Community House now stands at Lièvin, dedicated to the use of the children of France by the Kindergartens of America. To this fund Staten Island had the honor of contributing $600.00, the second largest contribution made, and only twenty-five people in the group! Others served with the Y. M. C. A. Miss Gregory and Miss Terre from Staten Island. War opportunities came to several, but there is a very close organization in this small group and a definite feeling that the country is being served in doing good work for the little citizens.

The Mother's Clubs and Parents Associations existing on Staten Island all owe their being to the Kindergarten Association. There is now a Staten Island Council of Mother's Clubs which has in view some fine work directly under the leadership of the Kindergarten Association.

Finances are taken care of by annual dues and an occasional card party.
